President Shelly Seeking Applicants for Board and Commissions

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz.- President Ben Shelly is seeking letters of interest for 31 board and commission member positions to seven Navajo enterprise boards.

Most the board and commission member vacancies are a result of expired terms.

“We need fill our boards and commissions with experienced, knowledgeable Navajo people. We need to move forward with progression of the enterprises on the Navajo Nation,” President Shelly said.

The boards and commissions oversee operations of various Navajo Nation enterprises.

The Office of the President and Vice President began a review process of boards and commissions bylaws in February and found 31 seats the needed to be filled.

Throughout the process, the President’s office updated the Navajo Nation Council Resources and Development Committee of the Navajo Nation Council.

President Shelly will be accepting letters of interest and resumés from today to April 2 for various boards and commission seats available.

A list of boards and commission seats available and a list of qualifications for each can be viewed online at <http://www.president.navajo-nsn.gov> as well as President Shelly’s Facebook page at <http://www.facebook.com/president.benshelly>.
