

Navajo Nation Environmental Workforce Development Program (2013 - 2016)

The Institute for Tribal Environmental Professionals (ITEP) at Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff, Arizona has received a grant from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (US EPA) to train Navajo Nation tribal members for environmental cleanup jobs and provide job placement assistance. Specifically, the job training program is targeting unemployed or underemployed Navajo tribal residents, particularly those living in communities impacted by uranium mining and cleanup activities. ITEP will work with the Navajo Nation EPA and Navajo Nation Department of Workforce Development to recruit 20 tribal members for each training cycle during years one and two, leading to the education and certification of up to 40 graduates over the first two years of the program. During the last year of the program, ITEP will track each participant's job search efforts and provide additional assistance, if needed.

TECHNICAL COURSE DESCRIPTIONS:

Orientation to Environmental Cleanup – 16 hours

This custom designed orientation will introduce participants to the unique aspects of environmental cleanup activities on tribal lands. Instructors will describe the efforts to clean up contaminated sites, explain the application of federal regulations, and point out potential cultural concerns. Other information included in the course are: Cleanup technologies for hazardous sites; occupational safety expectations; and introduction to computer basics and data entry.

Hazardous Materials Safe Handling – 16 hours

Personnel at many of these sites will be encountering a variety of hazardous materials beyond radioactive wastes, such as asbestos and heavy metals. This course will cover topics including identifying hazardous materials, safe handling and loading procedures, and general safety concerns working in this type of environment.

40-Hour HAZWOPER (Hazardous Waste Operations and Emergency Response)

This training will include classroom presentations, sampling activities, and hands-on experience with various types of personal protective equipment and respirators. A certificate will be awarded to participants who successfully complete the training.

Radiological Technician – 40 hours

The purpose of this course will be to ensure graduates have the necessary knowledge and skills to enter contaminated sites unescorted and to work safely in these areas. Training topics will include radiation characteristics, ALARA (as low as reasonably achievable) principles on dose limits, exposure levels, emergency procedures, and compliance with dosimeters and contamination monitors. Successful graduates will receive certification.

OSHA Construction Safety – 30 hours

This 30 hour course will follow OSHA training guidelines for working on construction sites, and will cover a variety of safety and health hazards a worker may encounter. Participants in this course will receive extensive training on how they can identify, abate, avoid and prevent job related hazards. Training material will include confined space entry, fall prevention, fire protection and prevention, material handling, hand and power tool protocols, excavations, and personal protective equipment. Successful graduates will receive certification.

Recertification:

Itep will ensure that graduates have access to recertification processes for some courses and understand how they can keep their certifications current.

APPLICATION PROCESS

The application is a confidential document and will be used to determine if you are eligible for the Navajo Nation Environmental Workforce Development Program. Information is kept confidential and will only be shared by ITEP staff and partners, the US EPA and its representatives. Please provide as much information as possible and answer each question correctly and honestly. Write clearly and use a pen to thoroughly complete the application. Do not use a pencil or marker.

1. Personal Information

- This section provides program staff and partners an opportunity to know about your personal profile and background.
- Participants must be 18 years old or older to be eligible for the program.
- If you are selected for the program, please prepare to provide copies of your Social Security Card, Driver's License, Certificate of Indian Blood, previous training certificates and military discharge papers (if applicable).
- Contact information should be current and reliable, particularly if we need to contact you for an interview and/or emergency situation.
- Interviews will begin February 2014. Each interview is 30-minutes long and can be conducted via phone or in person. Certain locations on the reservation will be designated for personal interviews.

2. Educational and Job Training Background

- You must have a high school diploma or GED by December 31, 2013. Please let us know immediately if you would like us to place you in contact with job centers or organizations that can assist you with this requirement.
- Make certain that you provide the names of colleges, technical or vocational schools and training programs you attended or participated in; also, list the dates of attendance and degree or certificates earned at each school or program. You can provide military training information that is relevant to environmental cleanup or health and safety.

3. Availability to Participate

- It is vital that participants attend ALL scheduled sessions to earn certifications and to remain in the program. You must have certifications and sufficient training to make you eligible for job placement and to meet certain job requirements.
- All training sessions will be held at a designated location in Window Rock, Arizona.
- Each training session begins at 8:00 am and ends at 5:00 pm, Monday through Friday (in most cases).
- Participants will be reimbursed for mileage at the Arizona state rate of $0.445 per mile.

4. Employment Status, Work History and References

- Be sure to indicate your employment status: 1) unemployed; 2) underemployed-work less than 20 hours per week; 3) self employed; or 4) employed, full-time or part-time at 20 hours or more per week.
- Do not provide anyone's name as a reference without their permission. The individual who is giving you a reference needs to know ahead of time that they may be contacted regarding a reference for you.

5. Health Questions

- Much of the environmental work for which you are being trained for requires heavy lifting, working outdoors and being physically fit.
- During some training exercises participants will wear protective clothing and/or safety gear, which may be stressful to certain individuals. If you have specific medical or physical limitations, please list them on the application.

6. Criminal Background

- Persons with criminal records are eligible for this program, and are encouraged to apply. However, the program staff and your future employer must be made aware of previous criminal convictions, particularly those that are serious offenses (i.e. repeated criminal history, violent and sexual crimes, driving offenses, etc).
- If selected to participate in the program, you must consent to a background check.

7. Certification and Acknowledgment

- Make certain that the information and statements you have provided in the application are true and factual to the best of your knowledge.
- Providing false information/statements could lead to the rejection of your application.

When you have completed the application, you can submit it the following ways:
