“Today, our nation is mourning over the loss of Bahe Ketchum, one of our national heroes. We extend our heartfelt condolences to his children, friends, relatives and the community of Navajo Mountain,” said President Begaye.

He said Ketchum was not only a hero and Marine, but also a kind person who served his community and advocated for the next generation, the children.

“Our nation extends gratitude for his service and his work will continue for the years to come and may he rest in peace,” President Begaye said.

President Begaye presented the Ketchum family with the Navajo Nation flag, a framed and signed proclamation for flags across the Nation to be flown at half-staff in honor of Bahe Ketchum, and a framed document explaining the 13 folds of the American flag.

Former chairman and Navajo Code Talker Peter MacDonald Sr. provided the eulogy, recounting the humble background and childhood of Ketchum, before he began his service to the country as a Code Talker.

Ketchum was of the Many Goats Clan, born for the Edge Water Clan. His maternal grandfathers were Bitter Water Clan and his paternal grandfathers were Black Streak Wood Clan.

After Ketchum’s biological mother passed when he was a toddler, Asdzaa Bi Tlizi Ligaii, Lady with White Goats, raised him.

In his late teens, Ketchum was married Hastii Bi Gishii’s daughter from the Kaibeto area, but she died giving birth to their daughter when Ketchum was serving in World War II.

After returning from the war, he married Estella Nez Tsosie, who preceded him in death in 2006. Eight children, 29 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren survive Ketchum.

“What he experienced growing up out here in the remote area helped him, I’m sure, to survive the years he was in the military,” said MacDonald.

Ketchum’s children celebrated their father’s gentle spirit that was never harsh in speech or actions. They said he was a man of faith who never hesitated to share his love of God with others.

“Dad was an honest, reliable and faithful provider to his wife and children. He encouraged his children to attain higher education and was an active community member and leader of Navajo Mountain,” his children said.

“We are hopeful our family will follow in the footsteps of his kindness, faith and leadership.

“We’ll miss you Dad, but we know you are in a good place with God and other family members who left before you,” they added.
