“We continue to push forward through this COVID-19 pandemic through the support of others, the guidance of our health care experts, and our prayers. New cases continue to spread, but we continue to push back on the virus together by taking precautions. Just as our ancestors did long ago, we pray together and continue to overcome challenges. Please continue to take precautions, especially in public places. We are in this together,” said Navajo Nation President Jonathan Nez.

Health care facilities on the Navajo Nation continue to administer COVID-19 vaccines. If you would like to receive one of the COVID-19 vaccines, please contact your health care provider and schedule an appointment.

“If you feel sick or have symptoms related to COVID-19, our health care experts urge you to isolate and get tested as soon as possible. We all have to do our part to lessen the spread of COVID-19 in our homes and communities. Please be safe and continue to pray for our frontline workers and our Nation,” said Vice President Myron Lizer.
