“Working in collaboration with the FBI, Victor Bigman has been charged for this heinous crime and we are confident justice will prevail for our comrade and brother Sgt. Darrell Curley,” said Col. Billison. “This has been a very difficult investigation for everyone in our police department and we appreciate all the support we have received. I want thank everyone—police officers, dispatchers, emergency management services, counseling services, and other state and county police agencies that have helped us and continue to provide their services. Right now all of our thoughts and blessings are with Pauline and the family.”

From Washington, D.C., President Ben Shelly added, “Under the direction of Col. Billison, this investigation has brought together all of our police districts and law enforcement agencies who took charge to bring justice to this case. I am proud to know that within a short time span, all of our Navajo Nation officers and dispatchers were mobilized and prepared to help the Tuba City District, surrounding communities and the FBI.”
